33 Outstanding Indoor Gardening Hacks For Beginners.

Gardening from home has actually been around since... well... civilization. Only recently in modern times has it been just a 'trend'-- nevertheless though, it is a trend that makes complete sense; it saves you time, and money, and it gives you the security of being able to partially produce your own food as well as that satisfaction of knowing exactly where your food came from.

That matters a lot today.

Think about how crazy things in the modern world are. Right now, it's actually somehow cheaper to go to a chain restaurant and eat beef that's soaked in chemicals and shipped in pieces and parts from probably all over the world than it is to go to your local farmer's market and pick up some tomatoes that were grown in someone's hobby-garden maybe a few blocks away from where you live.

That kind of craziness can't go on forever. We're seeing rapid fluctuations in the prices of corn, grain, plant oil and all kinds of commodities that come from nature. There's probably a reason for that-- or several.

It might be time to start growing your own food! It's a custom more ancient than the invention of history, and it's a (still) legal step towards self-reliance and independence of the super-market. It's easy, fun, and cheap! So why not jump right in?
